2010 SCHOLARSHIP WINNER

Nikki Kitson

Studying: Bachelor of Economics

Nikki looked to Australia to further develop her qualifications, and won the scholarship based on her academic grades and extra-curricular activities.

I was instantly attracted to The University of Queensland: the gorgeous campuses, outstanding reputation and worldwide connections. I emailed my grades and interests and received information about the School of Economics Centenary Scholarship.

I have always had a passion for economics. I enjoy learning the classroom theories that fundamentally define the millions of decisions made worldwide.

Already, I am so thankful for the opportunity and having just started lectures and tutorials I am keen to get stuck in and hit the books. I do believe it is important to make the most out of everything here. I have found joining new clubs and teams the best way to settle in, develop skills, learn life experiences and of course make friends. In Brisbane there's everything you need - cafés, parks, areas to relax, a buzzing nightlife and a short journey to the sunshine and gold coast.
